

SEWAGE PLANT DISCUSSED IN COUNCIL MEET

Commissioner Vaile's Opposition Made Clear Last Eve

Somewhat of a bomb shell burst last evening at one of the longest council sessions since the present city commission assumed control of Dixon's affairs. The bomb was hurled by Commissioner Joe E. Vaile of the department of streets, and in his action, he gained support from other members of the council. The commissioner attacked the city's application to various federal programs for financial aid, charging that the projects were only of a temporary nature and meant no good to the city. Expressing himself on the several federal programs for municipal government projects, Commissioner Vaile told the council:

"The Democrats have so abused the alphabet that it will soon be necessary to appropriate another hundred million to get it back in shape so that we can recognize it again."

The session had proceeded to a point where the motion to adjourn is usually submitted when Commissioner Vaile arose and addressed the council:

"At the time that this 45 per cent federal grant was discussed here, I may have been misinformed," he stated. "I was of the opinion that this money could be used in repairing our sewer system and a portion used for the building of the sewage disposal plant. I made a campaign promise to my constituents that when there was to be any outlay of funds, I would first interview the people and find out whether they wanted that improvement or not. I want it distinctly understood by the members of this council that I am opposed to the building of a sewage disposal plant in Dixon under the present application."

Attacks Sewer Proposal

"Then about these street improvement projects, it is a foolish expenditure of money for an improvement that is not permanent and will be torn up and ready to be repaired again in a few years. Let us use some common sense and not be too hasty in accepting these federal programs. If this council wants to do something, which in after years they may look back upon with pride, let us not start out to repair old streets, but build a new permanent street and most of all give Dixon

Pretty Stenographer Falls or Leaps to Her Death this Morn

Chicago, Sept. 7.—(AP)—The 17-story death plunge today of a pretty stenographer was blamed by her sister on despondency over an unrequited infatuation.

The dead girl was Afton Ramsey, 23, employee of a life insurance company. Her body in its hurtling descent to the sidewalk narrowly missed a number of pedestrians hurrying to work, striking within 15 feet of the entrance of the 1 La Salle St. building in the center of the financial district.

Miss Ramsey's sister, Vida, police said, informed them that Afton had declared herself hopelessly in love with Jack Janszen, an employee for a time of the same company. Janszen said he had not encouraged Miss Ramsey, had told her he was engaged to be married.

She replied, he said: "I can't help it. All night, and when I get up in the morning, I'm only waiting until I can see you."

Testimony contrary to that of Janszen, police said, was given by Vida Ramsey, who said that until three months ago Janszen had paid ardent court to Afton. Then, police said, Afton learned of Janszen's engagement, and he "dropped" her.

Dixon High School Enrollment at End of First Week of Term Slightly Less Than Last Year

At the end of the first week of school high school enrollment in Dixon shows a slight decrease from that of 1934. Principal B. J. Frazer said Friday.

Enrollment figures yesterday indicated about 730 students registered as compared with approximately 750 last year at the close of the first week. The fact that many had signed up who failed to appear for the opening sessions due to illness, moving away, and various other reasons accounts for the decrease more than any significant trend toward lower high

HEALTH BOARDS REQUEST TO DIX- ON MADE PUBLIC

Mayor Also Quotes Law Providing for Pur- ification of River

Mayor William Slothower and members of the Dixon city council have received the following communication from the Illinois sanitary board concerning the pollution of Rock river at this point, which was read to the council at its regular weekly meeting last evening:

Mayor and council:—"As a part of our detailed pollution survey of Rock river which is now under way, in accordance with the natiety water board law, a copy of which is enclosed, a preliminary investigation of the pollution of the river caused at Dixon was made on August 28-30 by Engineers W. H. Wisely and M. A. Dobbs.

"We conclude from the preliminary investigation that objectionable pollution as defined by the sanitary water board law is caused by the raw sewage and industrial wastes discharged from the public sewer system and certain industrial outlets. This confirms the verbal statements which our engineers were authorized to make to city officials in order that any municipalities needing improvements might still make application for Federal financial assistance by taking prompt action.

Ask Voluntary Action

"In making this request for the abatement of pollution, we wish to point out that this board prefers to allow municipalities causing stream pollution to take voluntary action rather than to hold a hearing and issue a formal abatement order enforceable by the Attorney General as provided for in the sanitary water board law. We appreciate your cognizance of the fact that Dixon is contributing to the pollution of Rock river and also appreciate your prompt action at the council meeting of August 30, to develop a project for the intercepting sewers and sewage treatment works necessary to meet the requirements of the board at this time.

"As our engineers advised, this board is only requiring that primary sewage treatment be provided at this time. This requirement is based on our sanitation program for Rock river which has been planned to bring about ultimate complete treatment of all sewage discharged to the river by such future time as the use of the stream so requires. The ultimate development of Rock river should find it the most greatly used recreational stream in the state, and at that time, of course, by complete treatment works requested at this time, a clean and sanitary stream will be available.

Similar Actions

"We are sure that your city appreciates the desirability and need for a pollution abatement program for Rock river and you have indicated your intention to do your part by the action you have already taken. We are glad to report that a number of the cities both above and below you on the river are taking similar action fully realizing their obligations. We also appreciate that there are State institutions contributing to the pollution and we of course intend to see that these problems are taken care of also.

"It is requested that you press your application for federal financial assistance and do everything possible to obtain favorable action and early completion of the project. We shall be glad to co-operate with you and your engineers and to give any assistance possible."

Mayor Slothower after reading the communication, referred to the section of the law pertaining to the order to discontinue discharge, notice and hearing, which he read as follows:

Statute Quoted

"Whenever the sanitary water board shall determine that sewage or any other liquid or solid substance of a decomposable or putrescible acid or other character, is being discharged into any of the aforesaid waters and when, in the

TAXI MAN CALL- ED BY OFFICERS HOLDUP VICTIM

Dixon Policemen In- nocently Aid Gun man Last Night

Jack Wilson, owner of the Yellow Cab taxi line has a keen eye for business but in the future will scorn customers whom he is called upon to haul by members of the police force. This morning about 2:15 Officers Pomeroy and Glessner met a stranger standing in front of the Ideal cafe, who stated that he wished to go to the Dixon state hospital in a cab.

The officers summoned Wilson, who took his passenger to the entrance gate at the institution. Here the passenger produced a revolver, which he wielded in a reckless manner and ordered the driver to drive back to town. At the corner of Boyd street and Brinton avenue, with the barrel of the weapon deeply imbedded against his side, Wilson was ordered to stop and turn over his cash, which amounted to about five dollars. The stranger then left the cab instructing the driver to continue eastward from the corner.

Wilson obeyed the order but lost no time in getting to the police station where he reported the holdup. The stranger was described as being about 30 years of age, weighing about 160 pounds, about six feet in height and wearing a dark suit and light cap. Police scoured the north side but found no trace of the stranger.

NEW PRISON FOR ILLINOIS URGED BY COMMISSION

Expansion and Bet- terment of Older Prison Asked

Chicago, Sept. 7.—(AP)—A new prison, expansion and improvement of existing penal institutions, and establishment of farming as the basic industry for prisoners were features of a suggested program for the state studied today by A. L. Bowen, director of the Illinois department of public works.

The proposals were contained in a report made to Bowen yesterday by a committee he appointed to survey the state's penal facilities. The committee included Circuit Judge Harry M. Fisher, chairman, Prof. Robert W. Miller of Northwestern University Law School, and Henry Barrett Chamberlain, operating director of the Chicago Crime Commission.

The group visited institutions at Joliet, Stateville, Menard, Vandalia, Pontiac and Oakdale. It reported lack of work for inmates was a "serious problem" and suggested enough land be purchased to make farming a basic industry.

The committee recommended a new penitentiary large enough to house 1500 prisoners and having at least 2000 acres of land.

UNKNOWN MEETS DEATH IN RAIL- ROAD YARD HERE

Stranger Is Ground to Death Under Wheels of I. C. Freight

An unknown man was instantly killed this afternoon about 1:30 in Illinois Central yards about 200 feet north of the Northwestern viaduct as he leaped from a box car of a south-bound freight train. The victim's head was terribly crushed and death was instantaneous. Officer Harry Jones was notified of the accident and had the body removed to the Preston mortuary.

The train, an extra south-bound freight in charge of Conductor Neiman of Freeport, passed through Dixon without stopping about 1:30 this afternoon. The victim was riding in an empty box car and is believed to have attempted to jump from the moving train. Another transient witnessed the tragedy and succeeded in having the train stopped.

The victim, apparently a young man, carried no identification papers. He carried a small bundle of clean clothing and in a coat pocket were found the addresses of Marian Green, 422 W. Second street, Rock Falls, and Miss Jackie Green, 305 North Madison street, Rock Falls, in care of Esther Bailey. Laundry marks found on some of the clothing bore the initials, R. F. L.

An insurance receipt later found in the clothing was believed to have identified the body as being that of John R. Busby, 721 South Washington street, Denver, Colo., and also bore the name of Mrs. John Busby at the same address who was to be notified in case of accident.

Kewanee, Ill., Sept. 7.—(AP)—Police today sought to identify a man found dead near the Rock Island railroad tracks west of DePue, Ill. The victim's legs were mangled and a hand severed. ITALY'S CONSUL AT ADDIS ABABA IN WARLIKE ACT

Withdraws All Consular Employees in Ethiopia from the Capital

Rome, Sept. 7.—(AP)—A government spokesman tonight said that the Italian minister at Addis Ababa, acting on his own initiative, had withdrawn Italian consular employees throughout Ethiopia to Addis Ababa.

He did this, it was explained, on his own initiative and not under orders of the foreign office. The action was taken, it was explained, because in view of the unsettled conditions in Ethiopia it was dangerous to continue the personnel in certain districts.

The Ethiopian charge d'affaires, Jesus Negadras, said that he had not been informed of the reported action.

If it is true, however, he added,

it "means war."

Aurora Salesman Is Victim Mystery End

Morris, Ill., Sept. 7.—(AP)—R. F. Reynolds, 45, an Aurora, Ill., salesman, was found shot to death today at the wheel of his automobile, which had stopped after crashing through a fence and ploughing erratically through a corn field.

Police said they believed the fatal shot took effect while Reynolds was driving on U. S. route 6. The automobile was in gear, with the lights still burning.

Reynolds had been killed by a shot in the right temple, police said. Powder burns indicated it had been fired at close range. A revolver was found on the floor of the car.

Police were told a widow survives Reynolds, who until recently was employed by an Aurora automobile sales agency.

If Reynolds committed suicide, police said, he must have shot himself while his car was traveling at a high rate of speed on the state highway. A coroner's jury was impaneled to fix the cause of death.

Oregon Justice's Decision Liberat- ed Polo Policeman

(Telegraph Special Service)

Oregon, Sept. 7.—Dale Gillis, Polo special police officer and Ogle county deputy sheriff, was released from the custody of Sheriff Delos Blanchard yesterday afternoon, when Justice Gerald Garard decided that State's Attorney Don Crowell had introduced no evidence that Gillis fired the shot which resulted in the death of Roy Paschal at Joliet on the night of Aug. 28. The justice at the close of the preliminary hearing Friday noon indicated that he would consider the testimony and hand down his decision within a day or two, but about 2:30 yesterday afternoon he dismissed the charge of assault with intent to commit murder, which was sworn out by James O. Paschal, father of the deceased. State's Attorney Don Crowell had not indicated to the day whether or not he would submit the case to the grand jury in October for investigation.

Schooner "Seth Lord" Reports Trouble: May Not Stay Afloat Until Coast Guard Reaches Her

Honolulu, Sept. 7.—(AP)—A coast guard patrol boat raced to the rescue of the distressed schooner, Seth Parker, today after the battered bad luck vessel of the Pacific had sent out a new call for help.

The once handsome schooner in which Phillips Lord, radio entertainer, tried unsuccessfully to circumnavigate the globe, wireless pleas to the coast guard here. Wallowing in heavy seas 625 miles southeast of Honolulu, the Seth Parker was reported to be leaking badly with her pumps out of commission. Three feet of water was said to be standing in the hold. In addition, she was without food for her crew of 15.

The coast guard patrol boat Tiger put out hurriedly to take the Parker supplies and tow her into port.

Late last night Capt. Frank Eckman of the schooner reported the situation as serious and raised doubts here as to whether the vessel could last until the Tiger arrives in about three days. Weather conditions were unfavorable.

STATE GARDENS PRODUCED FINE CROP THIS YEAR

Dixon State Hospital's Production 51,000 Pounds in June

For the month of June the amount of garden produce raised by different gardens at state institutions totaled 893,000 pounds, a survey by the state department of public welfare revealed this week. The Dixon State Hospital, listed among the seven leading institutions, reported 51,000 pounds of garden produce grown on institution farm lands.

Bumper crops in the gardens of state institutions show for the first six months of 1935 a 50 per cent increase in dollars and cents value over the yield during the same period in 1934. It is believed that a comparison of the number of pounds of produce would show an even larger increase for 1935.

Better Conditions

More favorable growing conditions following heavy spring rains have obliterated all effects of the 1934 drought, and gardeners have generally become more efficient this year. Short courses for farmers and gardeners at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, Urbana, have produced valuable instruction.

Following is the list of leading state hospitals in the number of pounds produced during the month of June. At the Dixon State Hospital canning of tomatoes is now being accomplished by girl patients and at other state hospitals as well, surplus quantities are being transferred to other institutions or are being canned for winter use. Some vegetables are also being stored in root cellars for the winter.

Jacksonville State Hospital	113,000
Lincoln State School and Colony	111,000
Chicago State Hospital	63,000
Menard Prison	57,000
East Moline State Hospital	56,000
Dixon State Hospital	51,000

Public Health Issue

Even though President Roosevelt, at Hyde Park, N. Y., still was reluctant to take the step for cremation of the bodies, Governor Sholtz and Dr. Hanson said it was a question of protecting public health, and bodies which could not be buried immediately in the keys would be burned.

Sholtz announced he would go to Washington next week to hand to Roosevelt a report on casualties, property damage, possible rehabilitation and charges that adequate warning of the storm's approach was not given by the weather bureau.

State Attorney G. A. Worley; Aubrey Williams, personal representative of Harry L. Hopkins, Federal relief administrator, and the American Legion launched investigations into the disaster that overtook the three veterans' camps on the keys.

Worley after an inquiry exonerated the Florida East Coast Railway of charges of unreasonable delay in sending a train to get the veterans the storm wrecked the train.

Meanwhile, the disturbance which brought the havoc moved on northeastward and caused storm warnings to be posted from Sandy Hook, N. J., to Boston.

Food Shortage Feared

Food shortage threatened refugees made homeless at Federalsburg, Md., where flood waters drove more than 300 from their homes. Extensive crop and property damage was done to Maryland's eastern shore by wind and rain. Tobacco stored in southern Maryland was lost when barns blew down.

Wrecking crews still searched for the body of a missing trainman at Wilmington, Del., where a washout caused a wreck and the death of an engineer.

Lindberghs Arrived Quietly in the East

North Haven, Me., Sept. 7.—(AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was at the summer home here of Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, mother of Mrs. Lindbergh, today.

He arrived yesterday, presumably with Mrs. Lindbergh, after a flight through the west. The usual reticence of the family to discuss the Colonel's affairs prevailed, and his arrival was not learned until today.

BOOSTING SEARCHY

Chicago—A pamphlet signed "Business Mens Committee. Searchy for Governor" was circulated in behalf of the gubernatorial candidacy of State Senator Earl B. Searcy (R.-Springfield).

CREMATION OF BODIES BEGUN IN STORM AREA

Florida Authorities Act to Prevent Pest- ilence in Section

Miami, Fla., Sept. 7.—(AP)—Sheriff D. C. Coleman, directing rescue operations in the lower keys, reported to the Red Cross today that burning of bodies of Monday night's storm victims had started. It was after daylight, the sheriff said, before the first match was applied to a pile of oil soaked bodies.

Orders for cremation of bodies which could not be buried quickly were issued by Governor Dave Sholtz, on recommendation of state health authorities as a precaution against possible outbreak of pestilence.

A priest, a rabbi and a minister were flown to Snake Creek by the coast guard to conduct burial services of the dead there.

Despite instructions to bury as many of the victims as possible, it appeared likely that few of the bodies would be placed in the ground because of difficulty of digging graves in the coral rock keys.

Workers Sickened

"I think it will be necessary to burn virtually all the bodies in the keys," said Conrad van Hyning, state welfare commissioner.

Relief workers, wearied and sickened by sights of horror, proceeded as rapidly as possible to dispose of the bodies, which Dr. Henry Hanson, state health officer, said were in advanced decomposition.

The ashes of the burned victims will rest in the little Matecumbe cemetery near where the hurricane

SELF-QUESTIONS

By Joseph Fort Newton

"EVERY day I read your piece," writes a young woman, "and it always makes me think seriously and that is good for me. I look forward to the little essay each morning; it helps to begin the day."

"Is it really better—do you think—to have self-confidence and faith in oneself? I don't mean towards other people—bluffing is wonderfully easy—I mean when one is alone, realizing the silly mistakes and blunders of the day? Tell me what you think."

"I'm only seventeen, new to life but with a burning determination to do something in the world; to write, perhaps, and write what I feel. But seventeen is too early to wonder about such things, is it not?"

"I've debated this question pro and con a dozen times at least, but my answer is never very satisfactory to me. Perhaps you will be good enough to give me a light on the way for me to go."

"No, seventeen is not too early to think of such things; it is to your credit that you think of something besides having 'a good time,' and want to make the best and fullest use of your life."

"As you grow older, and your thoughts clear up a bit, perhaps your answer to the question will become more satisfactory. The way will become plainer, because you have thought earnestly about it."

"Yes, believe in yourself, and do not waste any time brooding over any mistakes you think or fear you have made. Our mistakes are among our best teachers, if we learn from them and do not let them master us."

"Faith in yourself, yes! If any little imp whispers doubt into your ear, he is an awful liar. 'Bluffing' others is easy enough, but self-confidence is not bluffing—it is the basis and beginning of character."

"If you want to write, get an education; put yourself to school to the great writers. Learn the weight, worth, music and color of words, and how to make them sing. It is hard work, and few stick to it through."

"Ah, to be seventeen, full of dreams and plans and high hopes for life, how lucky you are—and may all your dreams come true!"

Republican Women to Start Campaign Constitution Day

Washington, Sept. 7—(AP)—Republican women will start their 1936 campaign activities on Constitution Day.

Their new chief at headquarters here, Mrs. Robert Lincoln Hoyal, a southwesterner, zippy of phrase and movement, sent out a general call today for a united feminine G. O. P. front on Sept. 7.

"We are asking every Republican woman to make some special observance of that day," Mrs. Hoyal said.

"As long as the Constitution will be a major issue of the campaign our women should be informed as to what it means to the nation, and not just say glibly, 'We support the Constitution.'"

Mrs. Hoyal outlined the scope of coming work for Republican "study clubs."

"First, a study course in the Constitution. Next, a study of the Declaration of Independence. Then a concentration on issues of the day—relief; cost of government; advance in the cost of living through the efforts of the brain trust to improve on nature; balance of power between the states and federal government."

Methodist W. F. M. S. Meeting on Thursday

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist church met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. F. Ware. In the absence of the president, Miss Seals presided.

The devotions were led by Mrs. Fred Hobbs who stressed the thought: "The servant is not greater than the Master."

After the regular routine business was transacted, delegates to the District convention to be held in DeKalb Sept. 25, were elected as follows: Delegates, Mrs. Ball and Mrs. Whitson; alternates, Mrs. Price and Mrs. Deutsch. Two members, Mrs. Morris and Mrs. Derr, were appointed to look after transportation.

The reports of the various chairmen were very satisfactory and interesting. Two new chairmen were elected: Mrs. Martha, Standard Bearer Counselor, and Mrs. Wingert, Stewardship chairman. Mrs. Clayton had charge of the program and presented Miss Seals who gave a report of the missionary work in China during the last 100 years. The subject was handled by Miss Seals in a most interesting manner. The price paid in life and health in this work has been heavy, but there are always volunteers to take the place of those lost to the work.

A very happy part of the program was a piano solo by Jack Weiss. Mrs. Deutsch read a leaflet pertaining to mite box work. A guest for the afternoon, Mrs. Chas. Decker of Norman Oklahoma, gave some very interesting thoughts in regard to the missionary work of her own society.

Meeting of E. R. B. Class at Home of Miss Elanor Powell

The E. R. B. class of St. Paul's Lutheran church held a very pleasant meeting Thursday evening at the home of Miss Elanor Powell. The president, Mrs. Ida Ware, announced the meeting would open with a song. Miss Olive Raffenberg accompanied at the organ. Mrs. Geo. Christensen read the Scripture lesson, followed with prayer by Miss Powell. A good report was given by the treasurer. Nineteen members and many guests were present.

The teacher, Mrs. Corabelle George, presented her resignation as she does not feel able to continue teaching. The class regrets the loss of a faithful teacher, but are fortunate in having Mrs. Jay Atkins to fill her place. It was voted to send a gypsy basket to each member of the class to have a contest between the north and south side, to add to the funds in the treasury. After the transaction of all business the class prayed the Lord's Prayer, bringing the meeting to a close. A program followed, including an organ selection by Lester and Donald Kiefer which was greatly enjoyed, and Wilson Ortgiesen gave a beautiful organ number. Miss Elanor Powell read several favorite selections, which were most interesting. Amusing games were played, causing much merriment. Tempting refreshments were served by the hostesses, Julia Hubbard, Anna Raffenberg, Olive Raffenberg and Eleanor Powell, which closed an evening greatly enjoyed by everyone present.

Does Not Like Co-ed Idea for St. Mary's

Oakland, Calif., Sept. 7—(AP)—Co-eds at St. Mary's home of the Galloping Gaels of football fame? An announcement by college officials that conversation of the Moraga school into a co-educational institution was being considered drew an emphatic protest from Philip Quiltman, editor of the college daily.

"We chose St. Mary's because we wanted to go to a man's college," he wrote in an editorial. "Anybody who wants 'company' can transfer to a co-educational institution."

The mail rate was $5 a half-ounce at the beginning of the Pony Express service.

There were guests for three tables of bridge. Mrs. Russell Byers was awarded the favor for high honors; Mrs. Henry Hubbell was awarded the second favor, and Miss Esther Barton received the consolation favor.

One of the enjoyable features of the evening was the miscellaneous shower for Miss Trautman and she received a number of lovely and useful gifts, accompanied with the best wishes of her friends for future happiness.

Meeting of Wawokiye Club; Picnic Sunday

The members of the Wawokiye club enjoyed an all day meeting with Mrs. Foster Reese of Dixon, Wednesday, Sept. 4th. There were twelve members, seven guests and one child, to partake of the delicious dinner served at noon.

After dinner the guests wandered for some time in the spacious grounds surrounding Mrs. Reese's home, and the guests all declared they had never seen more beautiful flowers, or a more artistic arrangement of plants and shrubbery. In one place Mr. Reese has planted "fire bush," to form the word "Dixon," and each letter is clear and carefully trimmed. The red sunflower is an oddity, and beds of cactus and "old hen and chickens," are very interesting. It is a yard that is well worth seeing.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Bert Hoyle. A hymn was sung, and Mrs. Will Castle, the secretary read minutes of the last meeting. Roll call was responded to by telling of the care of bulbs. Mrs. John Stanley, Sr., had charge of the program and gave some interesting facts concerning canned goods. All enjoyed discussing this subject, and worthwhile information was exchanged.

The guests as they departed thanked Mrs. Reese for a very pleasant day. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Bert Hoyle on the Lincoln Highway, west of town, Wednesday, Oct. 2nd.

The club picnic will be held at

THE TWYMANITES

Story by HAL COCHRAN Pictures by GEORGE SCARBO

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

When Scouty finished with his ride, he jumped off to the ground and sighed, "Gee, that swell riding made me tired. I guess I'll rest a bit."

Then Duncy said, "I'll join you, lad. If I can snooze, I will be glad. Let's run to yonder tree, where there's a dandy place to sit."

"Go right ahead," a cowboy said. "The rest can go with me, instead. I'm going to fix a dandy lunch. Now, who will lend a hand?"

"I will," said Doty. "Lead the way. For food, I'll work the live long day. I know that anything we have for lunch will taste just grand."

The Twines started off and then they all broke forth in laughter when we Duncy shouted, "Kindly wait for me, I'm hungry, too."

"The nap I planned, I'm sure will keep. I'd really rather eat than sleep." "The same thing goes for me," said Scouty. "I will follow you."

The Twines have some more fun in the next story.)

In just a very little while, a cowboy came forth with a pile of tasty looking sandwiches. "Sail in," he loudly cried.

"Some milk, wee Doty's going to bring. I hope you'll eat up everything." The happy Twines gathered in a circle, side by side.

Soon Windy said, "My, what a feast. I'm sure that I ate up at least a dozen of the sandwiches. I've had more than my share."

"The rest are also stuffed, no doubt." And then the bunch heard Goldy shout, "Here comes a pig. I'm going to get it. Maybe it won't care."

The funny pig began to snort and, likely, thought it would be sport to chase wee Goldy. What a sight, to see poor Goldy run.

"Hey, stop him," she began to shout. "I don't know what it's all about. Why should the fat pig pick on me. There's nothing I have done."

The Twines have some more fun in the next story.)

Lowell Park, Sunday, Sept. 8th with picnic rules prevailing.

IMPROVE JAMS BY ADDITIONS—

Nuts added to almost any jam will improve the flavor. One especially good combination is black walnuts and amsons. Try adding almonds to your orange marmalade, and if you also use honey instead of sugar you will have a confection that your friends will praise for days.

ARE WEEK END GUESTS OF MRS. TRIBOU—

AS THE TIDE TURNS

People are conscious of a turning of the tide against the New Deal, but it has been a difficult thing to find of record or to record. The Rhode Island record has been definite, but it was so localized as to be deprived of any significance elsewhere. Neither Ohio nor Illinois governments will call elections to fill vacancies, so no tests are impending in these states.

To those who are desirous of statistical information on the turn in the tide, the best we can offer are polls of newspapers taken by Newsdom in 1934 and 1935. Two polls having been taken, comparative figures are available.

Of first and immediate interest probably are the figures from New England states, neighbors of Rhode Island, which already has spoken. Statistics are issued as of August 24, and are in answer to the question as to whether or not the newspaper is for or against the New Deal. Questionnaires offered opportunities for modification of replies, and Newsdom records these as being for or against "in part." Figures that follow do not include those, but express the sentiments of those who answer yes or no. The question answered is, Do you favor the New Deal?

Maine—1934—Yes, 6; no, 5; 1935—Yes, 1; no 11.

New Hampshire—1934—Yes, 2; no, 13; 1935—Yes, 1; no, 12.

Vermont—1934—Yes, 2; no, 4; 1935—Yes, 0; no, 7.

Massachusetts—1934—Yes, 8; no, 25; 1935—Yes, 6; no, 27.

Connecticut—1934—Yes, 6; no, 8; 1935—Yes, 4; no, 22.

New Jersey—1934—Yes, 28; no, 23; 1935—Yes, 8; no, 31.

Pennsylvania—1934—Yes, 27; no, 49; 1935—Yes, 19; no, 66.

New York—1934—Yes, 32; no, 57; 1935—Yes, 14; no, 113.

Moving westward we come to our own group of states:

Indiana—1934—Yes, 52; no, 52; 1935—Yes, 20; no, 39.

Illinois—1934—Yes, 50; no, 67; 1935—Yes, 31; no, 66.

Iowa—1934—Yes, 35; no, 54; 1935—Yes, 26; no, 63.

Wisconsin—1934—Yes, 13; no, 13; 1935—Yes, 13; no, 21.

Two things are notable in connection with the returns from Iowa. One is that the number of papers reporting is exceeded only by Missouri, New York, and Texas. The other is that 24 favored the New Deal in part, presumably that relating to the corn-hog administration.

Westward again, we arrive at the stronghold of the Norrises, who have been better New Dealers than some of the democrats. We may classify these as the wheat states:

Nebraska—1934—Yes, 17; no, 9; 1935—Yes, 10; no, 23.

North Dakota—1934—Yes, 10; no, 5; 1935—Yes, 12; no, 18.

South Dakota—1934—Yes, 4; no, 16; 1935—Yes, 10; no, 23.

Minnesota—1934—Yes, 35; no, 39; 1935—Yes, 14; no, 32.

On the Pacific coast were substantial changes:

Washington—1934—Yes, 19; no, 16; 1935—Yes, 9; no, 38.

California—1934—Yes, 45; no, 39; 1935—Yes, 39; no, 60.

Returns from border states that as a matter of habit are in the democratic column, but have departed in recent elections, are:

Missouri—1934—Yes, 26; no, 27; 1935—Yes, 53; no, 76.

Kentucky—1934—Yes, 29; no, 12; 1935—Yes, 20; no, 15.

Tennessee—1934—Yes, 12; no, 5; 1935—Yes, 12; no, 10.

In the matter of electoral votes, changes in states of the solid south are of no consequence, but in consideration of the fact that we are recording changes in sentiment concerning the New Deal and not counting electoral votes, we record some of the significant changes shown by the two polls.

First is Arkansas, the home of Senator Robinson, senate leader who despite distastefulness of it, has carried the New Deal through the senate:

Arkansas—1934—Yes, 29; no, 3; 1935—Yes, 41; no, 14.

Mississippi—1934—Yes, 34; no, 2; 1935—Yes, 12; no, 4.

Alabama—1934—Yes, 28; no, 2; 1935—Yes, 19; no, 7.

Georgia—1934—Yes, 32; no, 4; 1935—Yes, 26; no, 14.

South Carolina—1934—Yes, 2; no, 2; 1935—Yes, 7; no, 3.

North Carolina—1935—Yes, 23; no, 4; 1935—Yes, 26; no, 13.

Texas—1934—Yes, 65; no, 23; 1935—Yes, 70; no, 41. Texas has the largest return of endorsement "in part," probably induced by the cotton program.

Kansas and Oklahoma might have been classified with the wheat states, but we conclude with them by themselves:

Kansas—1934—Yes, 17; no, 40; 1935—Yes, 21; no, 69.

Oklahoma—1934—Yes, 55; no, 16; 1935—Yes, 14; no, 28.

Population represented by yes, 13,675,570; no, 27,

682,838. Circulation by newspapers voting yes, 4,091,700; no, 7,709,273. Total newspapers voting yes, 739; no, 1188.

Labor Day, 1935

Labor Day in Franklin Grove was a day that never will be forgotten. It is a day that will go down in history, as well as linger in the minds of all, both young and old. The day brought forth many memories, some happy and some otherwise. The only thing to mar the occasion was the rain of Sunday night and until noon Monday.

Had the weather been good the crowd at the Homecoming and Centennial would have surpassed anything we have ever had. As it was over 500 registered at the camp grounds, and it is estimated that one hundred failed to register. The entire program was a complete success from the very beginning to the end. The first on the program to entertain those who had the time was the unloading of the replica of "The Pioneer" at the depot. That drew a large crowd, and was very interesting. After that everybody was busy getting ready for the parade. The parade was simply grand. Much real hard work and thought had been given to make it the marvelous success that it was. It is impossible to give the complete line of parade. There were three covered wagons, typical of the pioneer days. Several Indians, riders and cowboys, an old fashioned high topped surrey, with folks dressed to represent the pioneer days. The American Legion Auxiliary float was a beautiful affair. The old fashioned one horse buggy with an old couple drew much attention and praise, many costumes representing the pioneer days were in the parade. The band was at its best also, the clowns all of which made the parade amusing. Then too it was educational, showing the younger generation the progress that has been made with in the hundred years. An old fashioned herse was in the parade. Following the representation of the pioneer days were the modes of traveling today. Several lovely automobiles, a very lovely hearse. And last but not least in the parade was the old engine and car with whistle and ringing bell held the interest of everyone. The parade finished at the camp ground, where had the weather been good would have found many families with picnic dinners. About 1:30 the large auditorium was nearly filled with local people and former residents who had gathered here to celebrate the one hundredth birthday of the old home town. The program is spoken of very highly.

Miss Adella Helmershausen, president of the day, and who first suggested that the Centennial be celebrated with a Homecoming. In a few well chosen words she presented Mayor George L. Spangler who gave the address of welcome, and made everyone feel that they personally were being welcomed back to the old home town. This was followed by songs written by Mrs. J. H. Lincoln, who in her girlhood days was called Martha Bill. The singing was led by Nelson Blocher of Chicago, a former Franklin Grove boy and son of the late John Blocher. Miss Alice Helmershausen accompanied at the piano.

Speech by George T. Noe, last surviving son of Cummins W. Noe, of Steward, Ill.

A rising vote of thanks by the audience to Miss Adella Helmershausen for keeping the town and the school histories.

Frank C. Brayton of Lyons, Ia., a loyal former Franklin Grove boy gave a beautiful tribute to the town of his birthplace. Closing his speech with the following poem which so fitting that we give it here that all might enjoy it.

And at last:
When Saint Peter has done his chores;
When the goats have been penned from the sheep;
The rewards have been given the toilers—
The ones who would sow and reap;
I will say, "Now, Good Saint Peter,
Don't bother to get me a crown;
All I ask is a seat reserved for me
Near the folks from the old home town."

Sermonette by Rev. L. E. Winter of the Methodist church.

Mrs. Maurice Madeville of Lake Bluff, who when a girl in Franklin Grove was known as Leona Canterbury, gave "Girlhood Memories," which is spoken of as one of the best on the program. Bringing up so many fond memories.

Ovation to the late Prof. T. W. Scott and his son Frank Scott and wife who had come from Aurelia, Ia., to attend the Centennial.

Ovation to Maggie R. Bailey, a beloved teacher in the early days; solo in her honor was sung by Nelson Blocher, "When You and I Were Young, Maggie."

Address by Mrs. Frederick A. Dow of Hinsdale, who when a teacher in the old school house was known as Miss Maybanks.

Attorney E. E. Wingert of Dixon represented the Wingert family.

Letters from the absent were read by E. R. Buck, Earl Orner of Wilmette, Ill., regretted greatly that holiday work kept him absent from the Homecoming.

Volunteer talks were given by Rev. C. P. Blekking of the Presbyterian church, Rev. O. D. Buck and C. W. Lahman of the Brethren church, Misses Harriet Sheap and Mary Jones.

During the social hour that followed by request Miss Alice Helmershausen played "Il Trovatore."

The committee in charge of the decorations are certainly to be commended on their labor. On the platform at the camp ground a log cabin had been constructed and saplings had been arranged to represent an early home in the grove, very beautiful and suggestive as well. In fact the decorations for the day were most effective. Many "Welcome" signs and ropes of gayly colored pennants were in evidence. The lamp posts on main street were each adorned with red, white and blue banners, brilliant lights had been stretched on a cable above the street, which added greatly to the pleasure of the evening. The gorgeous flowers on the platform were furnished by H. W. Hicks.

Three wreaths were sent to the graves of three pioneers: Col. Nathan Whitney at Dixon; Cummins W. Nowe at Steward and Prof. T. W. Scott at the Emmert cemetery west of town.

After the program at the camp ground a soft ball game was played at the school house yard. It was a nip and tuck game for a while, but finally errors gave the Ashton team the opportunity and they took it, winning the game 6 to 3.

At night everything was just one grand round of pleasure. It was one of the best good natured crowds that has been on main street for many years. Everyone was there to have a good time and they were not disappointed. Booths, concessions, games of chance, in fact everything to make merry. Surely the town's 100th birthday anniversary was celebrated most completely in the evening. The bugle and drum corps of Rochelle was present and furnished music as did also the Franklin Grove band under the direction of Neil Fox, rendered a concert on main street.

All the committees from the Mayor on down are to be highly commended upon the interest, the cooperation and the extremely hard work. The window display was marvelous and very attractive and interesting and educational. The present generation learned much from the antiques, and the parade. Many of the antiques dated back hundreds of years and were very novel, some of them never having been displayed in the town before. The Homecoming Centennial Jubilee has gone down in history as one of the most successful events of Franklin Grove.

The talk of Miss Adella Helmershausen, president of the day, on the camp ground, was as follows:

Fellow Townspeople and Friends: You are to be congratulated upon the privilege of being present, have desired to see this day and have not seen it. Go with me to the blazing logs in the fireplace of the Whitney Nursery, where

Colonel Nathan Whitney, our first Centenarian, waits, and hear him commission a school girl to write a history for this day, which he desired to see.

("I lay this wreath in honor of Colonel Nathan Whitney."—Little Dorothy Hussey. Again go with me to the stile over which our childish feet ran merrily at the White school house, and hear Professor Thomas W. Scott tell how he planned a history of the school, as a tribute to his wife, the beautiful Elizabeth Dysart; and how his data was destroyed in a fire, burning the Chas. B. Bill brick residence; hence he also commissioned the same school girl to write a

Sewage Plant—

a suitable street lighting system. I want to co-operate to the limit but I don't think that the state can compel this city to stop polluting Rock river. If it is being polluted, and where is the proof that it is being polluted? None has been presented to this council. The people of Dixon cannot afford a $200,000 bond indebtedness which might run to a half million, and I invite other members of this council to express themselves on this subject."

Commissioner Fred G. Dimick of the department of public accounts was the only member to voluntarily state his position and briefly stated that he was in accord with Commissioner Vaile's ideas, citing the sewer system of the city which he said was a detriment to the citizens in many sections of Dixon.

Mayor Reads Law

Mayor Slothower told the council that no one hated to put expense upon the citizens worse than he did and then he read the text of the law covering the pollution of streams and the penalty of $100 per day, each day to form a separate offense.

"If we obtain 45 per cent of the cost from the federal government, we would not be doing our duty if we did not try to secure this amount instead of paying 100 per cent for the improvement later. The plans which have been submitted are only preliminary and the grant may not be made to Dixon," the mayor explained. "The WPA projects form another program. In addition to the streets we have former another project whereby we hope to be able to paint the interior of the city hall, the public rest rooms, the Galena ave. arch and the Galena avenue bridge. The cost to the city for this much needed improvement will be a little over $100 for paint and materials, if the project is granted, and I believe that the project was filed in the Rockford office yesterday."

Commissioner Vaile refused to be quoted by the mayor's explanation and renewed his attack on the entire program by stating:

Need Lighting System

"Dixon is the lantern town of the middle west on the Hudson of the West. The lighting system in this city is a fine spectacle with the arms of the supporting poles wired together to hold up the lights. We need a lighting system in Dixon and when we do anything about it, let us do it right—with the sanction of the people. The citizens ought to be here tonight showing an interest in the city's affairs instead of standing on the streets in groups and criticizing the council," the commissioner added as he waved his hand to the totally empty gallery seats. "It took five months to relay the brick from a little west of the I. N. U. offices to the Dixon Inn and how long is it going to take to do the same thing through the district district? There have been four excavations made since that brick was relayed on West First street and that should not be. You need only to look at what has been done there to decide how much an improvement, if any, relaying those old brick will amount to."

Mayor Slothower interrupted the commissioner to state that he had promised the citizens repeatedly that he was not in favor of putting an expense upon the tax payers which was not absolutely necessary at these times.

Mayor Demands Petition

"If a new lighting system and new paving are what is wanted, let a petition bearing 51 per cent of the signatures of the property owners be presented to this council and I will then be ready to start. As to the sewage treatment plant, the city has been warned three times and the next time will receive a final order to cease dumping sewage into Rock river. At a special meeting last Friday evening this council adopted a resolution which resulted in the filing of this application for federal aid in constructing this plant."

"What other city has done anything about it?" Commissioner Vaile asked. "Rockford has a miniature plant which doesn't amount to much. Let's wait and see what the others are going to do."

Mayor Slothower informed the commissioner that Sterling and Oregon had launched plans to build the building of plants.

Commissioner Cal Tyler of the department of public health and safety when called upon by Mayor Slothower to state his opinion, said:

"The law which has been cited here this evening, appears to be very clear on this subject of stream pollution. Our city attorney has given us his opinion that this law is enforceable. I would regret to say to any of my constituents in the future that I did not make an attempt to secure a 45 per cent gift from the government in the building of this plant. I am, however, in accord with what Commissioner Vaile has said, in my own case and insofar as it concerns the sewer system of the city. I personally know of the inadequacy of the sewer system."

"A member of an engineering firm visiting Dixon a few days ago told the mayor that this council was a bunch of cheap skates. Well,

The BLUE DOOR

BEGIN HERE TODAY

RUTH WOODSON, a pretty, high-spirited girl of 19, an orphan, lives with relatives, the LAWRENCEs. Feeling herself hated by her cousin, LITTLE LAWRENCE, Ruth impulsively takes a bus for the mid-west in hope of finding work. Running out of money, she is put off the bus in a small town just as a storm is breaking. She seeks refuge in a big, gloomy stone house with a blue door, and falls from hunger.

She is carried upstairs by the old housekeeper and a young man, JOHN McNEILL. The old housekeeper has mistaken Ruth for ELAINE CHALMERS, whose grandfather built the house. Ruth allows the mistake to stand, in order to enjoy the good meal and comfortable bed which she needs. The old woman says to her, "Please call me Penny, like you used to do."

Elaine Chalmers, meanwhile, at school at Graystone College, vows in a sorority meeting to win the love of her first sweetheart, John McNeill.

Ruth resolves, with regret, to quit the old house early next morning.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

RUTH did not realize her own exhausted condition. When she sank into a deep, dreamless sleep it was not to waken at daybreak, as she had planned, but in response to a knock on her door hours later.

Sitting up in consternation, she cried, "Come in!" and there entered the old woman with the bent back and peering eyes.

"Oh!" cried Ruth. "I meant—" She stopped abruptly, for, of course she could not say, "I meant to run away before you caught me!"

"I was worried about you, Miss Elaine. Are you feeling better? Ah! will you take your breakfast now?"

Ruth thought, "Now I'm in it up to my neck!" Yet a little happiness mingled with her dismay. She would have to spend another day here and another night! In this situation there were blended three elements that cheered her: adventure, a little respite from her wanderings, and (most important of all) the chance of seeing once more the young man named John.

"Oh, Lawsy me!" exclaimed the old woman. "Are you too sick to talk, Miss Elaine?" She came to the bed and put her hand on the girl's forehead. "Where do you hurt most?"

Ruth laughed. "I don't hurt at all, Penny, and I'm not sick. Just tired and stiff and sort of jumbled in the head. I was so surprised to find myself here that I couldn't answer you."

Penny said, "When your letter came Tuesday, sayin' you were comin' to the old house for a rest I didn't think you'd be followin' it so soon. I thought you said you'd be here in a couple of weeks. My eyes are terrible bad I reckon I read it wrong."

"Don't you ever wear glasses, Penny?" asked Ruth coldly. "They don't help, Miss Elaine."

I have pondered that over and have not become offended as I know that the members of this council are trying to be conservative and economical in expending the funds of the city.

"I likewise agree with what the mayor has said about improvements. I have not seen any one coming in here and asking this council for improvements. I am convinced that the people of Dixon would vote against the building of a sewage disposal plant, and if this is to be forced down our throats we should discharge our duty in making an effort to obtain the 45 per cent grant."

City Attorney Martin Gannon told the council that in his opinion, the city was proceeding in the proper manner and agreed with what Commissioner Vaile had stated. The people can have some thing to say on the matter in a referendum, he told the council, adding that the stream pollution law was inconsistent in his opinion, concluding by stating that if the citizens of Dixon voted against the improvement, that the council's hands would be tied.

City Health Officer Dr. J. B. Werren added his opinion to the discussion by stating that Rock river had needed cleaning up for several years and was more in need of it now than ever.

Other Business
When Mayor Slothower called upon Commissioner Clyde Lenox to express his opinion, the commissioner replied that he could add nothing to that which had already been said.

Commissioner Vaile added his final suggestion when he told the council that all sewer, gas and water service on First street should be placed beneath the sidewalk and in this manner stop the practice of digging up the streets which would add to their permanency.

The council voted naming Mayor Slothower as delegate from Dixon to attend the annual meeting

John McNeill just missed being handsome . . . had the rare quality of distinction.

I think it's cataract. I'll end up by being stone blind, I'm afraid."

"Oh," said Ruth. "I'm sorry!" She impulsively took the old woman's hand and held it for a moment against her cheek. Here was another human being with troubles as deep as her own, and without the hope of youth to help her bear them. "Poor Penny!" she murmured.

"Not that I can't see to take care of the house!" the old woman declared hastily.

"Oh, no!" agreed Ruth. "Did you say breakfast, Penny?"

"Yes, Miss Elaine. There're plenty of fresh eggs. I still keep chickens—white leghorns, the same as when you were a child."

"I'd like a couple of your white leghorn eggs, Penny," Ruth said with enthusiasm, "and a cup of coffee. Some toast, too, if it's not too much trouble."

"It's not," Penny said. "You've changed a lot, Miss Elaine. You never used to think whether a thing was trouble or not." She went out, shaking her head in wonder.

"After breakfast the girl amazed the old servant yet further by making her own bed and tidying her room. "I don't want to cause you any extra work," Ruth explained. "You've enough to do as it is."

"I can manage the work fine," the old woman declared positively. "I hope you'll tell your mother and stepfather that, if you get a chance, I don't want to be pensioned off, not till I drop in my tracks."

Ruth saw that the old creature had a horror of giving up her place. She longed to reassure her, yet she felt that such deception would be cruel in the end. As she thought of the old woman's troubles, her own schemes took second place. The impulse came to tell Penny, then and there, that she was not entertaining "Elaine," but just a tramp girl who had wandered in for shelter.

"Penny," she said, "I've something to tell you. I'm not—"

There came a knocking at the front door and Penny said, "Tell me later, Miss Elaine. It's young John McNeill come to ask about you. He carried you upstairs when you fainted last night. He was worried—"

She went hobbling down the stairs to open the door, while the knocking continued, with some impatience.

Presently Penny called, "Will you come down, Miss Elaine?" Ruth made a quick survey of herself in the mirror, added a discreet touch of lipstick and went down. Her heart was pounding with both panic and pleasure.

The young man was waiting at the foot of the stairs. John McNeill just missed being handsome, but Ruth's eyes, in their hasty survey, saw that he had the rare quality of distinction. He looked up at her quizzically and Ruth thought, "He'll know I'm a fake. I shan't have to confess."

But he said, "Good morning, Elaine," and held out his hand. She was surprised to find herself saying, "John McNeill!" and putting her hand in his.

THERE was a little silence between them after they had shaken hands, but it was not an awkward silence. Penny, who was observing them like a benighted owl, remarked curiously, "Do you and her much changed, Mr. John? I can't depend on my eyes any more—"

"Changed for the better," John McNeill answered coolly. Penny remarked, "She hasn't made as big a woman as I thought she'd make. She was always an over-tall child, and well filled out too."

John put his head on one side, considering this. "Let's see—how old were you when you visited here last?"

"Twelve," Ruth replied glibly. To herself she observed, "Bright girl! I know the answers—so far."

"And I was 16," John McNeill said thoughtfully. "I was in love with you," Ruth remarked audaciously. "You were too old to notice me much, but I was crazy about you just the same."

(She thought, "Whatever makes me say that!") Penny said with a cackle, "Yes, you were, Miss Elaine! You used to follow him around everywhere, makin' eyes at him. Such airs as you put on, to get him to notice you!"

John McNeill laughed and joined Penny in looking back through the years. "But I noticed she was a good-looking kid," he confessed. "I remember I said to my mother,

"Give Elaine Chalmers four or five years, and she'll be a professional heart-breaker. She's got something—"

"JUMP NERVES" STILL REMAIN WITH TRADERS

Roosevelt's Breathing Spell for Business Has Some Effect

New York, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Wall street finished the first week of Autumn today with a burst of figurative cheering and hat-tossing.

Most observers in the financial district felt that the week had offered much substantial encouragement to business and the securities markets.

President Roosevelt's indication that he was near to writing "finis" to the New Deal legislative measures and that business could begin to enjoy its long-sought "breathing spell" from Washington ranked at the top of Wall Street's gratitude list.

Immediately below that, however, was the continuing evidence that many lines of business were entering the home stretch of 1935 with plenty of strength for the final dash to the year-end business peak.

Carloadings totals for the week of August 31, announced Friday, reached a level last equalled in November 1931, buoying financial hopes in a spot where they have been faintest recently.

Nerves Still Jumpy

General Electric manufactured more ammunition for the bull forces of the stock exchange when its directors raised the dividend payment to 20 cents a share, replacing the 15 cents quarterly paid for a year and a half.

Meanwhile the share market pushed ahead in vigorous trading to the best levels of the year as the week approached its finish. Corporate bonds were equally sought after.

U. S. government obligations were somewhat uncertain. The market for them which was badly shaken by the failure in the previous week of the federal farm bond offering, was somewhat heartened by the good reception given the $500,000,000 of treasury bonds offered early this week, but traders' nerves were apparently still quite jumpy.

AMBOY NEWS

By Frances Lepper

Amboy—Water users in the city of Amboy are notified that the city water will be turned off at 8 o'clock next Friday morning, Sept. 13 and will remain off for about three hours while the city water tank is being given a thorough cleaning, according to City Marshal James H. Kelleher.

Death ended the fight of a carrier pigeon here Tuesday as the bird stopped for a rest at Henry Smith's service station on U. S. 52 at the north edge of Amboy. A passing car, coming from the west on the Sterling road, struck and killed the pigeon as it picked about for food in the gravel near the station.

Mr. Smith reports that the pigeon which was blue in color and was full grown, came to the station about 11 o'clock Tuesday morning. He had nothing to feed it but the pigeon continued to stay around the station. It was killed about 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Investigating the leg bands, Mr. Smith found a rubber band on the left leg which bore the number 353 inside and C207 on the outside. There was a metal band on the right leg which carried the inscription AU35ERC37.

Sanding of the Amboy Township high school gymnasium floor will soon be completed. The work is being done under the direction of T. L. Traugher, assistant principal and basketball coach. After a complete refinishing of the gym floor, it will be repainted with the basketball boundary lines and circles and will be in first class condition for the opening of the coming cage season.

Going southward rather than northward as most folks do on summer vacations, Rev. A. G. Suechting, pastor of the Amboy Immanuel Lutheran church has been enjoying himself in Texas along the Mexican border. He tells of his vacation travels in the following interesting letter written to Amboy friends:

While most people spend their vacations in the far north where it is cool, I decided to be different and am spending my vacation which my congregation has allotted me, in the far south along the Mexican border at Del Rio, Tex. Del Rio is a city of 12,500 population, 8000 of which is Mexican. Del Rio is a colorful city. Its hotels and other buildings are very modern and up-to-date. The people are more sociable and have more leisure than those of the north.

The places of interest around Del Rio are the San Philippi Springs, from which the city gets its water supply, the gold course with its "browns" rather than its greens, the beautiful Rio Grande valley noted for its fertility. Here most of vegetables and fruits are grown. Dr. John Brinkley's home, a veritable palace, surrounded by stately palms and the village across the border of Villa Acuna. It is of the latter that I wish to speak.

I took the stage for Villa Acuna Saturday night for it is on the night when one sees Mexico as it is. I was not disappointed. We passed over the toll bridge without any trouble. My first taste of Mexico was "chucky" streets and primitive dwellings. The houses were of dried clay, the size and color of cement blocks covered with a poor mixture of concrete. I entered one home. The part of the house facing the street served as a safe, the rear part was the residence and within the enclosure back of the house were pigs and chickens. The owner seemed highly flattered to have an American as his guest. It seemed to me that the eyes of the entire village were directed upon me. I spied an old fashioned well with a windlass and asked for a drink of water. My host spent about ten minutes telling me of the rare quality of its precious contents. He claimed to have the coolest and finest water in the village. Besides chickens and hogs he had a little deer or rather a fawn and a dog. The dog and fawn were fast friends. When I left him, and it was almost impossible to tear one's self away without insulting him. I was stormed by peddlers gathering around me to buy their wares. Luckily for me that I had a cowboy friend along who soon took care of the peddlers for me.

Later I noticed other Mexicans having deer tied in or about the home. One Mexican even had a bear cub. They catch these animals in the mountains to the south and raise them for pets.

I asked my friend about a certain Mexican who was heavily armed and seemed highly important for there were many people gathered about him. I was informed that he belonged to a gang of bandits who were in hiding in the mountains and against whom the Mexican government was most helpless.

Of great interest was the butcher shop. I saw fresh beef, mutton and deer meat hanging on meat hooks and no refrigeration. I was told that they butchered daily and that all the meat would be sold before closing time. One can buy two pounds of excellent meat for only fifteen cents.

The pottery store was of interest and showed real Mexican art. Of great fame is Miss Crosby's place where we heard Mexican melodies and saw Mexican life in all its gayeties. As the stage was ready to depart we mounted and were soon rolling and rumbling toward the American border. The custom officers asked us if we were American citizens to which we responded with a lusty "Yes, sir." I was glad to be back in the good old U. S. A.

Republican Leaders Called to Meeting

Washington, Sept. 7.—(AP)—The inner circle of the Republican party leadership has been called to meet here September 25 to get a running start on the 1936 presidential campaign.

In announcing the meeting of the executive committee, Chairman Henry P. Fletcher of the Republican National Committee said he had done so "in view of the importance of early organization and intensification of Republican activities."

The meeting will be the first formal gathering of the party leaders since June, 1934, when Fletcher was made chairman of the committee. Among the problems confronting the executive committee are the selection of a city in which to hold the 1936 convention and the raising of campaign funds.
